Solution overview

It means we now don't have to have a manager onsite. That gives us options to use a call center for facilities under 150 units. Being able to open units and gates for particular customers at particular times is something that's going to be really beneficial for us moving forward." Terry King, Managing Director at Safeguard Self-Storage Solutions.

Safeguard is a rapidly growing chain of forward-thinking self storage facilities across New Zealand. They offer an extensive range of self storage units all housed in fully gated, alarm-secured sites. Thanks to cutting-edge security solutions from ICT partners Millennium Technology, customers enjoy both peace of mind and seamless accessibility.
